

Enhanced Gastrointestinal Fluoroscopy

The College considers the activities encompassed by this authorization, within the specialty of radiological technology, to pose a risk to the public of Alberta. Although the technical practice of performing fluoroscopy procedures falls within the authorization of a radiological technologist registered with the College, the additional responsibility of technical and clinical assessment, for specific gastrointestinal (GI) examinations, that is the purpose of this authorization does not. As such, in order to perform these enhanced procedures, a technologist must complete a program of advanced study approved by Council.